

The Harvey Girls return . . .

Kansas City, Mo. (May 4, 2009) . . . and they're ready to serve up a meal to die for! The Mystery Train presents, "Hey There, Harvey Girl!" running through June 13th, an interactive murder mystery comedy with weekly shows on Friday and Saturday evenings in your favorite restaurants. Thursday evenings are added after Memorial Day. (L to R) Ashley Beth Burnett, Janell Ratzlaff and Cassandra Whitney are taking orders for murderous fun! If you enjoy playing detective, or being a part of the mystery, get in the line-up!

"Hey There, Harvey Girl!" is set in 1889, a time when the men were tough, the range was rough and a woman's touch was sorely needed. The famous Harvey Girls were going out to civilize the west . . . when murder is served up as the main course! With a killer on board the train, and a dead woman in the caboose, an unlikely heroine rides to the rescue to help the passengers solve the crime and save the Harvey reputation. Just in time for dinner!

The evening begins with role-playing at 6:30 pm; followed by a marvelous meal and a mystery-comedy show at 7 pm. The Mystery Train will return to the Hereford House's Hollywood Room on May 8, 9, 16, 23, 28, 29, and 30. Cost is $54.00 on First Fridays and Thursdays, $64.00 on Friday and Saturday and includes dinner, show and gratuity. A cash bar is available. Advance reservations are required and can be made by calling (816) 813-9654. Visit www.kcmysterytrain.com for a complete schedule.

The Mystery Train is also available for private parties & group bookings and makes a killer gift!
